THEY DO NOT FEAR AN EPIDEMIC

When asked this morning about the smallpox conditions in the city, Sanitary Inspector George Shorten said that there were nine cases, but from indications he did not think there was any likelihood of an epidemic.

When asked about the city pest house, concerning which there has been some unfavorable talk about town, Mr. Shorten said that though conditions were not perhaps all that could be wished, they were as good as could be provided in the circumstances and he did not feel that the criticism was justified.

Mr. Shorten said further that the city was in pressing need of an isolation hospital and that there was no decent place provided by the city where women with contagious diseases could be taken. Mr. Shorten said that the importance of the sanitary conditions was something that the city seemed slow in waking up to, but that he and the men under him were doing everything in their power with what they had to do with.

"If an epidemic of smallpox should occur in Ogden I have no idea," said Mr. Shorten, "how it could be handled, for there is no place where the patients could be taken, as the present isolation building will accommodate a very few."

There are fourteen contagious diseases shown by the record at the sanitary office, principally smallpox, with two cases of diphtheria, one of chickenpox and a number of scarlet fever. Three of the smallpox cases are in the pest house.

Thomas Jones, who was confined at the pest house, has been permitted to return home, where he is attending one of his children afflicted with the disease.

The city physician states that the cases of smallpox are all of a mild form and she does not anticipate the spread of the disease to any great extent. Places where the ailment have developed have been carefully disinfected and are being closely watched.

County Physician Pidecock states that there is only one case of smallpox in Weber county outside of Ogden and that it is under quarantine at Wilson. This case was a recent development. At Huntsville, the doctor says, there are a few cases of chickenpox and there are a few mild cases of scarlet fever at Farr West.

MIGHT STOP RAZING OF WALLS

The Commercial National bank has commenced an action in the district court against David Eccles, S. T. Whitaker and Roy Sheedy, to restrain them from removing the wall of the Eccles building ruins on the ground that to remove the wall at this time would jeopardize the interests of the plaintiff.

Arrangements were begun today for the razing of the walls of the Eccles block, by removing bank fixtures that were left in the building after the fire and in assembling wrecking material. The defendant Sheedy being the contractor, S. T. Whitaker the architect and David Eccles the owner of the property.

The Commercial National bank has a force of men at work on the ground immediately west of the west wall of the building.

It is contended that the removal of the wall of the Eccles structure would retard progress in the building operations of the plaintiff company or endanger the lives of the men at work by weakening the brick wall next to the wall of the Eccles building.

The defendants will be required to show cause March 15 why they should not be restrained from razing the wall.

M'CLOSKEY IS HERE TO STAY

John J. McCloskey said this afternoon that he wanted to say to the people of Ogden that he was here to stay. He said that he had received a very flattering offer to take charge of the Boise team in the Union association. Mr. McCloskey said that under no consideration would he leave Ogden now. "I have my business here now," he said. "I like Ogden and I am going to stick."

Mr. McCloskey went to Salt Lake this afternoon and said that within a few days he would have an announcement to make which he said he thought would interest Ogden fans.

Superintendent Joseph Bailey of the Ogden Rapid Transit, in commenting on Ogden's prospective ball team said that it is a shame that the citizens of Ogden do not take more interest in something that means a great deal to the city.

"We now have a man here," said Mr. Bailey, "who can give Ogden a good ball team if the people will only support him, and it is time that the people of this town came forward for now, after all that has been said and done, if the Ogden ball team falls through, the people throughout the country will say that the people of Ogden have not public spirit enough to support a baseball team in the Union association."

Mr. Bailey said he believed in base ball; that he thought it a clean sport that would bring business to the city and if a few more of Ogden's citizens would wake up and get busy it would be a good thing.

There is much truth in what Mr. Bailey says, for no cleaner sport, nor more healthy amusement was ever devised and if professional ball teams can be made to pay in towns half as large as Ogden, it certainly would not be a credit to this city to have one now practically assured fail from lack of support.

"HOW MOTION PICTURES ARE MADE" —GLOBE THEATER— LAST TIME TONIGHT.

SOCIETY

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE.

A very pretty birthday surprise was that given for Mr. Parley Griffin at his home last Tuesday evening. The guest arrived in due time and was taken by surprise on his return from work at the State Industrial school.

A delicious five-course supper was served in very pleasing style, after which the evening was spent in games and music.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Parley Griffin, H. S. Smith, Chas. Cole, Paul Christensen, C. G. Price, John Kreighbaum, James Harrop, Mrs. Geo. Smulm and Miss Vinnie Price.

WINGOLF PARTY.

Invitations are out for a dancing party to be given Friday evening by the Wingolf society. Guests from over the state are expected and the occasion will be one of the largest of the season's social events.

The following are the founders of this society who served at the various missions in Germany:

Royal Eccles, J. Orson Douglas, Louis H. Peery, Frank H. Rolapp, Clarence E. Wright, Luke M. Wright, Geo. M. Taylor, Chas. H. West, J. R. Miller, George L. Stanger, Lawrence R. Caine, William M. McKay, W. Booker Preston, Leo Squires, Harold C. Kimball, Frank M. Whitney, Will C. Winder, Jr., John N. Clawson, Ray C. Naylor, Ed. G. Cannon, Harley Cannon, Frank J. Parsons, Roy Chamberlain, Thomas Gies, Don C. Young, Verne L. Arnold, Frank Arnold, Lawrence Clayton and Arthur Woolley.

FAREWELL PARTY.

Misses Beatrice Farr and Lizzie Dinsdale were hostesses at a farewell party given in honor of Miss Mamie Peterson, who is to leave shortly on a mission to the Central States, having been called to labor as organist and secretary of that particular branch.

A delightful crowd gathered at the home of Marcus Farr on Canyon road to celebrate the occasion. During the evening, besides the pleasant amusements indulged in, Miss Arta Simpson and Miss Beatrice Farr rendered beautiful solos, with Lelie B. Farr as soloist. At 10:30 light refreshments were served. The guest was then presented with three handsomely bound books, necessary for the preparation of her work and as a token of the high esteem in which she was held by all.

The invited guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Read, Miss Mamie Peterson, Mrs. Simpson, Beatrice Farr, Minnie Nelson, Lois Dinsdale, Mary Wilson, Lizzie Dinsdale, Mr. and Mrs. Chester P. Nelson, Messrs. Andrew Wilson, Carl Blakely, Harold Campbell, Ben Barrows, Lionel B. Farr, Walter L. Wilson, Eric Isaacson and Lorin B. Farr.

After wishing their guest a fond adieu, the crowd dispersed at a late hour.

man pick up two chunks of ice and hurl them. I put him under arrest and was pelted with ice. One officer came to my assistance. I held up my club and threatened any man who came near. An American who struck me in the head a particularly hard blow was the only man I hit. I did strike him as hard as I could. I also saw there a carpenter wounded, assaulted by strikers after they had dragged him from the car.

"Could you locate the leaders, men or women, who led the assaults?" asked Representative Wilson.

"There were no leaders in the streets," said the captain. "The instructions of leaders were made in meetings."

"The crowds usually were led by women and children," continued Sullivan. "They usually were in the front rank and sometimes women had children in their arms. Other women carried flags. On the first morning Editor, the strike leader, was about the mills giving orders, but when the demonstrations took place he always disappeared."

Describing the wounding of Officer Benoit, the captain said:

"I want to say that the man who killed the woman was the man who wounded Officer Benoit. We know that man and we will get him."

"Who was the man you have in mind?"

"I shouldn't tell you that; it would defeat the ends of justice."

"Was he a striker?"

"We think he was, and the woman killed also was a striker. I think that shooting started as pure devilment to raise trouble and that there was no intention to kill anybody. The police did not shoot."

Captain Sullivan told of another officer who was stabbed during the same outbreak. Another method of the strikers to arouse trouble, he said, was the concerted plan of the strikers in flocking through the stores, passing in and out without buying anything.

"They had our storekeepers in a state of terror and for some time business was practically at a standstill."

RELIGION ENTERS INTO LAW SUIT

Kansas City, Mo., March 6.—On a court decision may hang the spiritual welfare of Charles Dixon, 11 years old and sole heir of a fortune of $40,000, left by his father, Charles Dixon, of Kansas City, who with his daughter, was drowned while bathing in Lake Michigan last summer. The boy's relatives are divided among each other as to whether he should be a Catholic or a Protestant.

Mrs. Cornelius B. Baker, a sister of the boy's mother, who died in 1906, and the lad's guardian, embrace the Unitarian faith. She is opposing the suit brought today by the boy's uncle, George A. Dixon, who seeks to obtain possession of Charles in order, as he says, "to improve the spiritual welfare of my little nephew by keeping him within the Catholic church."

TREATIES ARE TO PASS THE SENATE

Washington, March 6.—By nightfall the arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France may be ratified by the senate, which continued consideration of them today as the "legislative day of March 5."

Those senators who have been canvassing the situation carefully almost ever since the treaties were submitted to the senate early last August, asserted they expected to muster the necessary two-thirds vote for ratifying the treaties tomorrow. They conceded, however, that there was a danger point in clause 3 of article 3 relating to the delegation of power to the joint high commission to determine what questions are arbitrable after the treaty signatories disagree.

With that clause maintained, the main fight would be on the Lodge resolution of ratification, which would interpret the treaties so as to safeguard the senate's full treaty-making prerogatives.

Senator Root, who has a substitute for the Lodge resolution designed to bar from arbitration the Monroe doctrine and like questions, has been watching the developments closely and making notes as the debate progresses.

Sensors Bacon, Shively and Hoke Smith were among the set speakers today and both advocates and opponents were prepared for the final voting late this afternoon, though conceding the possibility of a night session or more delay in the event of unforeseen latitude of debate.

SPORT

M'FARLAND BEATS ONE-ROUND HOGAN

NEW YORK, March 6.—Pacque McFarland, the Chicago lightweight, won all the way in a ten-round fight with "One Round" Hogan of California at the Fairmont Athletic club here tonight.

McFarland led so easily all the way that many thought he could have scored a knockout, but he appeared to hold back to allow Hogan to last ten rounds. The Chicago man landed enough blows to knock out six men if he had used more steam, but he seemed to delight in tantalizing Hogan without allowing him more than two or three clean blows.

Hogan weighed in at the ringside at 137 pounds, a pound heavier than McFarland.

The bout began with McFarland leading with two lefts to the face and an attempt at a right swing, which missed and sent McFarland to the floor by the force of his own blows; but he was up in a second and began fighting his opponent all over the ring and into his corner with lefts to the face and right uppercuts. He used this combination repeatedly throughout the bout and seemed to have Hogan puzzled. The Californian hit only at short range and did not land a single straight blow in the second.

McFarland landed with rights to the body and swings to the head in the third and Hogan returned weakly. In the fourth, Hogan started for the first time to mix up, but McFarland was quick and clever. He used face and right uppercuts. He used these blows effectively through the fifth, sixth and seventh, as well as the latter round he started Hogan's nose bleeding.

In the eighth, Hogan made his showing, landing a right swing which started McFarland's nose bleeding. Packey promptly was all over his man again and throughout the ninth

DISCHARGE JURY IN KIMMEL CASE

ST. LOUIS, March 5.—The third hearing of the Kimmel identity mystery and insurance contest ended in a mistrial this afternoon when the jury, which had been out seventy-three hours, was discharged by Federal Judge Amidon.

The judge's action was taken after J. Edgar had made statements which showed not only that there was no hope of agreement, but that bitter personal animosity was developing between two factions of the jury.

This factional strife went so far as to re-open the question supposed to have been settled by Monday's partial report of the jury, whether the Kimmel claimant was George A. Kimmel. The jury at the finish and through
